Chat Client

Opticks Real-time Chat on IRC

The Opticks Community maintains an IRC channel on freenode.net. The channel name is #opticks. This channel is for users and developers to ask questions, talk about development, basically anything Opticks related.

You can join our chat using the Freenode web client. Just select a nickname, #opticks as the channel and then click the Join button. For information on other ways to connect, please read Other Clients.

Chat Logs

All communication in the Opticks chat is archived. You can search the logs for specific information.

No one around?

If you aren't finding anyone in chat, you might want to send your question to one of our mailing lists.